Topics for DCI's 22 September Address

REF:

FBIS-0200-88 dtd 22 Aug 88, Subj: DCI Appearance

1. As you know, the DCI is scheduled to address about 50 senior FBIS officers on 22 September 1000-1045 in Headquarters 1E74. The audience will include the chiefs of the overt FBIS monitoring sites overseas who have returned for their annual conference with office and Agency managers and area specialists. Senior managers from FBIS headquarters in Reston also will be present.

2. The FBIS managers will be glad to hear the DCI's remarks on whatever topics he wishes to address. If he is in a position on this occasion to tackle parochial concerns, or to prophesy, this audience particularly would welcome comments addressing the following questions or topics:

- Do any trends indicate that Agency priorities and business will change much in the near future?
- Do you foresee any relief from the increasing cost of overseas operations? (The FBIS managers present have spent much time recently trying to reconcile increasing consumer demands and declining budget projections.)
- In broader terms, what is the outlook for Agency funding in the outyears? Do you expect the composition of the workforce to change in the new fiscal environment--e.g. more of fewer contractors, staff employees, part-time employees?

- What is your outlook regarding the future of the United States in Panama: (The FBIS Panama Bureau so far has not been seriously affected by the strain in U.S.-Panamanian relations but the bureaus' future--and FBIS' ability to report on Central American affairs--hinges on continued Panamanian acceptance of its presence.)
- How do you see the issue of overseas security standards unfolding in light of the differences between the Agency and State over the storage of classified materials?
- What is your assessment of the effectiveness of the new Counterintelligence Center and the reorganization of the Inspector General's Staff?
